

MARIE L. LOGGIA-KEE

At Buxbaum Loggia, Marie L. Loggia-Kee is Vice President of Marketing and Administration. Ms. Loggia-Kee's duties include overseeing office systems, website services, data management and marketing.

Education: University of California, Irvine, CA - Bachelor of Arts - English
California State University, Fullerton, CA - Master of Arts -
Communications
National University, San Diego, CA - Master of Arts - English

Experience:

2007 to Present *Part-time Faculty, Communications Department
California State University, Fullerton*

Teach courses in copy editing, design and reporting for the mass media. Loggia-Kee also teaches at other colleges, and edits and writes for various outlets such as UCLA Magazine, OC Family Magazine and ComputerEdge Magazine.

2000 - 2001 Managing Editor - The Zone News

Responsibilities included overseeing editorial content and staff of a monthly magazine geared toward the high-technology entrepreneur.

1999 to Present Certified Core Adjunct Faculty - National University

Teach courses in information literacy and research, literature, graduate portfolios, English and creative writing.

1997 - 1999 Online Editor - Comcast Online Communications

Responsibilities included overseeing the editorial and design staff, daily updating of content on InOrangeCounty.com and InInlandEmpire.com, purchasing online and print advertising and handling marketing campaigns.

1994 - 1997 Internet Editor, Managing Editor - McMullen Argus Publishing

Began as a Copy Editor, then managed five magazines in the Specialty and Outdoor Group. Responsibilities included editing all copy, selecting freelance articles and working with the Layout and Design department. As Internet Editor, was responsible for coordinating all 30+ McMullen Argus magazine content for the Web.